Social Media is the buzzword that has defined the last couple of years in media and internet trends. The St. Louis area has a growing contingent of social media professionals and casual users, and the Social Media Club's St. Louis chapter brings these hobbyists and professionals together to network, learn and chat about the technologies, practices and fun that is to be had in this virtual field.

Following on the heels of last month's relaunch event, which gathered almost 150 Social Media types, the next Social Media Club of St. Louis' Third Thursday Tangents Meetup is scheduled for 5:30pm June 18 at The Pepper Lounge in Downtown St. Louis. This month's event will offer networking and socializing in one room and a panel discussion about Small Business and Social Media in the other. Come for the 1/2 price drink and appetizer specials - stay for the socializing or the panel; whatever is your pleasure.

What: SMCSTL Third Thursday Tangents Meetup

When: Thursday, June 18 at 5:30pm

Where: The Pepper Lounge (2005 Locust St.)

The evening begins with drinks and networking at 5:30pm, and a panel discussion from 6-7pm will bring together a group of four St. Louis small business owners to answer questions and talk about their Adventures in Small Business and Social Media.

This month's panel will be moderated by Brad Hoggenmiller, SMCSTL Development Director and recruiter/client manager at Technology Partners. Our willing accomplices for this month's discussion are...

- Chris Reimer - Owner of RizzoTees.com
- Dixie Gillespie - Business Coach at Pure Synchrony
- Greg Bussmann - Owner of Executive Business Products
- Jim Durbin - Vice President of Social Media at Durbin Media Group

The entrepreneurs on this month's panel have experience effectively engaging in social media for a variety of reasons - from knowledge sharing to growing their customer base. We will also be taking questions via twitter that are appended with the tag #smcstl, and we will be streaming the discussion as well - more details and a link to that coming soon!

Bring a friend or two, or three, and join us for the SMCSTL's Third Thursday Tangents Meetup and enjoy some good friends, networking, conversation and drinks. You don't have to be a member to attend, and the event is free for everyone.
